

XM Satellite Radio provides a wide range of programming and flexibility that is not offered by local stations. And when we travel, all that flexibility travels with us unchanged.

In a free country (!?) I, the consumer, should retain the option to make my own choices free from government interference so long as the product does not negatively affect public safety and so forth.

Competition is the hallmark of our economic system and success as a nation and as such should be cherished and protected.

Thank you.
